
Guide to Human rights and Sexual misconduct Policy and Resource training in 2020

The national conversation about sexual violence on campuses continues at colleges and universities across the country, in the national and local media, and among political leaders. Every college and university, Keimyung University included, needs to provide an environment in which all members of the campus community learn, live and work without fear of sexual violence or sexual harassment. It is essential that each of us be trained to understand what sexual misconduct is so that we can prevent and address it. Furthermore, it is imperative that we are able to support those who confront sexual violence, sexual harassment, domestic violence and unwanted prostitution. The university provides this mandated training, which includes four-part online module. The completion of this module is required for all faculty members.
